1. What is the study about?

You are invited to participate in a study about the production of sexualised imagery for non-commercial purposes, such as sexting or amateur pornography. We hope to learn more about the way that Australian adults engage with the production of sexualised imagery, their reasons for doing so, and the positive or negative experiences associated with their practices.

2. Do I have to participate?

Being part of this study is voluntary. If you want to be part of the study we ask that you read the information below carefully and ask us any questions.

You can read the information below and decide at the end if you do not want to participate. If you decide not to participate this won't affect your relationship with La Trobe University or any other listed organisation.

3. Who is being asked to participate?

You have been asked to participate because:

- You are a heterosexual male or female aged 25 or over;
- You have self-identified that you engage with the production of sexualised imagery for non-commercial purposes;
- You are an Australian resident.

At this time, we are only interviewing heterosexual, cisgendered men and women because this is a small scale, exploratory study. In the near future, we hope to do research that is more encompassing of other groups.

4. What will I be asked to do?

If you want to take part in this study, we will ask you to partake in an interview. Interviews may take place either over the phone, or via Zoom audio or video. It will take approximately one to two hours of your time to be part of this study.

Question topics include background information about yourself, your engagement with the production of non-commercial sexualised imagery, the devices used to produce this imagery, the positive or negative responses you've encountered as a result of engaging with the production of sexualised imagery, and the benefits or risks you associate with this practice.

5. What are the benefits?

This study will provide a safe and respectful forum for you to reflect on your experiences and perspectives associated with the production of sexualised imagery. You will receive a $50 gift voucher for your participation in this research.

The expected benefits to society in general are an increase in knowledge and understanding which will provide an informed basis for improving policy, regulatory, and educational responses in this area.

6. What are the risks?

With any study there are (1) risks we know about, (2) risks we don't know about and (3) risks we don't expect. If you experience something that you aren't sure about, please contact us immediately so we can discuss the best way to manage your concerns.

We have listed the risks we know about below. This will help you decide if you want to be part of the study.

- There is a potential minimal risk of emotional harm in discussing the production of non-commercial sexualised imagery.
- There is some potential risk of experiencing embarrassment or regret in discussing the production of non-commercial sexualised imagery; however, we hope that this research will provide a safe forum in which you feel comfortable to share your experiences with the interviewer without any fear of judgement.

7. What will happen to information about me?

We will collect information about you in ways that will not reveal who you are. This means you cannot be identified in any type of publication from this study.

Where applicable, your audio recording will be destroyed after transcription. We will keep your other information, such as your consent form and de-identified transcript, for 5 years after the project is completed. After this time, we will destroy all of your data.

We will collect, store and destroy your data in accordance with La Trobe Universities Research Data Management Policy which can be viewed online using the following link: <https://policies.latrobe.edu.au/document/view.php?id=106/>.

We will publish information about you in ways that will not be identified in any type of publication from this study.

The personal information you provide will be handled in accordance with applicable privacy laws, any health information collected will be handled in accordance with the Health Records Act 2001 (Vic). Subject to any exceptions in relevant laws, you have the right to access and correct your personal information by contacting the research team. Your contribution to the research would be disclosed outside the research team ONLY if required by a court subpoena. In this unlikely event the research team may have to divulge the identities of participants.

8. Will I hear about the results of the study?

At the conclusion of this study, participants will be emailed a short summary of results, and provided with a list of any publications that arise from this research. You may request to view these publications by contacting the researcher.

9. What if I change my mind?

If you participate in an interview, you can choose to no longer be part of the study at any time until four weeks following the collection of your data. You can let us know by:

1. Completing the 'Withdrawal of Consent Form' (provided at the end of this document);
2. Calling us; or
3. Emailing us

When you withdraw any information about you will be withdrawn from the research study.

Your decision to withdraw at any point will not affect your relationship with La Trobe University or any other organisation listed.
